A home for all things health technology at Scientific Sessions

Visit the Health Innovation Pavilion, located in the Heart Hub. Attend the 3-day Health Tech & Innovation Summit and engage with companies and start-ups showcasing their products and services. Also featured:

- Updates from the Health Tech Advisory Group
- Health Tech Competition (see details below)
- Health tech researchers
- Next generation imaging and AI analysis
- Creating a scalable, sustainable business model with remote patient monitoring and digital therapeutics
- Updates from the Innovators Network
- Best practices in digital coaching
- Digital tools in cardiac rehabilitation

Join us for the 2023 Health Tech Competition

Competition Days

Day 1: Health Tech Competition

Date: Nov. 11, 2023

Time: 11:15 a.m.-1:15 p.m. ET

Location: Health Innovation Pavilion

Day 2: Health Tech Competition

Date: Nov. 12, 2023

Time: 11:15 a.m.-1:15 p.m. ET

Location: Health Innovation Pavilion

Watch as finalists pitch their health tech start-up to top physicians, industry leaders and VIPs who can help take companies to the next level.

Main Events

From the Opening to the Closing Session, the Main Events highlight the best of the best breakthroughs in cardiovascular health, introduce distinguished researchers, lay out the hottest topics and tackle controversies head-on.

Opening Session

Saturday, Nov. 11
8–8:30 a.m.
Main Event I

Join us for the opening session featuring remarks from Chair of the AHA Committee on Scientific Sessions Program Amit Khera, MD, MSc, FAHA, and presentation of the Joseph A. Vita Award, Dr. Nanette K. Wenger Research Goes and Distinguished Scientist Award by AHA President, Joseph C. Wu, MD, PhD, FAHA.

All times noted
are Eastern Time.

Saturday, Nov. 11

9:45–11 a.m. | 114/Nutter Theater
Annual Dr. Nanette K. Wenger Research Goes Red® Award for Best Scientific Article on Cardiovascular Disease and Stroke in Women
Zainab Mahmoud, MD, MSc
Racial Disparities in Specific Cardiovascular Outcomes

The Dr. Nanette K. Wenger Research Goes Red® Award recognizes the best article on cardiovascular disease and stroke in women published each year in an American Heart Association journal. Beginning in 2021 at American Heart Association Scientific Sessions, the award provides a cash prize and plaque to the winner. The corresponding author will receive the award on behalf of the co-authors and will present the winning article at Scientific Sessions.

9:45–11 a.m. | Main Event II
Valve-tastic! What's the Latest and Greatest in Lifetime Management, Imaging, Science and Technology in Valvular Heart Disease

This session will give a high-level overview for cutting-edge developments in valvular heart disease examining lifetime management of aortic valve disease, multimodality management of mitral valve disease, new imaging insights, what's hot in basic and translational science, and what's next in technology and clinical trials.

1:30–2:45 p.m. | Main Event II
Eliminating Health Inequity in Cardiovascular Disease

There have been long-standing and persistent racial and ethnic disparities in cardiovascular disease and stroke mortality. Globally, the largest decrease in life expectancy during the COVID-19 pandemic was observed in the U.S., with Blacks and Hispanics having the greatest decrease. Since the 1980s, there has also been widening disparities in cardiovascular disease mortality, stroke mortality and maternal mortality in rural counties versus urban counties. This main event session will focus on the medical community's role in moving health equity and social justice forward, research innovations and data-driven interventions to eliminate health disparities, diversifying the health care workforce, improving both urban and rural health and funding priorities.

3:15–4:30 p.m. | 114/Nutter Theater
Distinguished Scientist Lecture Session
Elizabeth M. McNally, MD, PhD, FAHA
Cardiovascular Genetics From Diagnosis to Therapy

3:15–4:30 p.m. | Main Event II
Cardiac Arrest on the Athletic Field: A Team Approach

This session will focus on cardiac arrest on the athletic field, addressing various aspects such as common and uncommon causes, emergency preparedness, athletic screening and return to play following such an event. The session will also explore the differentiation between athlete heart and cardiomyopathy as well as the role of myocardial inflammation on SCD during athletic participation. The highlight of the session will include athletes who survived SCD on the field to provide their perspectives on life after death and experiences with attempting to return to sports.

Sunday, Nov. 12

8–9:15 a.m. | 114/Nutter Theater
Advances of the "Polypill" in Cardiovascular Disease: From Concept to WHO Essential Medication

The polypill concept for cardiovascular disease prevention and treatment was first advanced over 20 years ago. Since that time, proof-of-concept studies have demonstrated improvement in cardiovascular disease risk factors leading to recent large randomized trials showing improved clinical outcomes with the fixed-dose combination therapies. The WHO in 2023 added fixed-dose combination medications for prevention of atherosclerotic cardiovascular disease to the list of Essential Medicines.

8–9:15 a.m. | Main Event II
Moving the Needle in Cardiogenic Shock: A Conversation With the Giants — The Intersection of Critical Care, Interventional and Heart Failure Cardiology and Cardiac Surgery
Cardiogenic shock in the past, present and future will be explored through conversations

Presidential Session

1:30-3 p.m. | Sunday, Nov. 12 | Main Event I

Join us for the Presidential Address featuring an inspiring Lewis A. Conner Lecture by AHA President Joseph C. Wu, MD, PhD, FAHA, an update from AHA CEO Nancy Brown and presentation of the Chairman's Award by AHA Chair Marsha Jones, as well as presentation of the following awards: Eugene Braunwald Award, Research Achievement Award, Basic Research Prize, Clinical Research Prize, Population Research Prize and a special in memoriam tribute.

with legendary figures in the field. The critical role of multidisciplinary collaboration needed to achieve meaningful progress will be emphasized.

9:45-11 a.m. | Main Event II

A Confluence of Risk: Navigating the Intersection of Cardiovascular, Kidney and Metabolic Health

There is a growing population of individuals with combinations of metabolic risk factors, chronic kidney disease and cardiovascular disease. In addition, several newer cardioprotective agents such as SGLT2i, GLP1-RA and nonsteroidal MRAs have additional metabolic and kidney effects. A multidisciplinary group of speakers will discuss the underlying pathophysiology, optimal pharmacotherapeutic strategies, approaches for interdisciplinary preventative care and management, considerations for prediction beyond the outcome of ASCVD and implications for health equity.

9:45-11 a.m. | 114/Nutter Theater

Nobel Laureate Lecture Session Edvard I. Moser, PhD Neural Computation of Space and Time

3:30-4:45 p.m. | Main Event II

Cardio-Oncology, "Onco-Cardiology" and Everything in Between: What Cardiologists Should Know About Cardiovascular Disease in Cancer

This session is designed to provide current knowledge about cardio-oncology high points to cardiologists and cardiovascular scientists from key speakers in major cardiovascular fields, moderated by experts in cardio-oncology and oncology.

3:30-4:45 p.m. | 114/Nutter Theater

Paul Dudley White International Lecture and Session Junbo Ge, MD Panvascular Disease-What We Have Done and What We Can Do?

Established in 1966 by the Board of Directors of the American Heart Association, the first lecture honored Dr. Paul Dudley White, an eminent Boston physician, for his leadership in the advancement of cardiology throughout the world. Dr. White was also one of the founding fathers of the American Heart Association and a past president. The first lecture was presented in 1967. In 1987, at the request of the Committee on Scientific Sessions Program, the Steering Committee on Medical and Community Programs renamed the lecture "The Paul Dudley White International Lecture."

Monday, Nov. 13

8-9:15 a.m. | Main Event II

AI in the Clinic and Lab: Promise, Pitfalls and the Data Police

This is a not-to-be-missed session at the clinical-translational interface. It has high relevance to clinicians, researchers and patients with varying levels of interest and expertise related to how we leverage emerging data opportunities to enhance cardiovascular health and disease. We start with a primer on AI in cardiovascular care — how does it work, what data does it require, and what's already being done in this space to impact cardiovascular care. Next, we examine use cases for how AI can address our clinical biases and blind spots. This is followed by a reality check from the "data police" — methodologists highlighting the pitfalls, potential biases generated from AI and how AI has the potential for real harm. This is followed by another reality check on the need for precision in our scientific and clinical approaches when we think about training, validation and application of AI-based models across scientific and clinical contexts.

9:45-11 a.m. | Main Event II

Aging as a Unique Determinant of Cardiovascular Health

This session will address cardiovascular aging at the epidemiologic, patient and molecular levels. The speakers will span the gamut of population-level insights to molecular details underpinning aging in the cardiovascular system. Attendees will learn about cutting-edge ideas from thought leaders in the aging domain and hear about the future of clinical and translational research in aging. This marquee session will conclude with a panel discussion to identify the next steps in the field of cardiovascular aging.

All Late-Breaking Science Sessions are presented in Main Event I

Saturday, Nov. 11

LBS.01: Obesity — Novel Therapeutics and Implications for Population Health

NOTE: LBS.01 is part of the Opening General Session
8:30-9:15 a.m. | Saturday, Nov. 11

- Semaglutide and Cardiovascular Outcomes in Patients With Overweight or Obesity Who Do Not Have Diabetes (SELECT)

LBS.02: Hot Topics in Management of Coronary Artery Disease/Acute Coronary Syndrome

9:45-11 a.m. | Saturday, Nov. 11

- Restrictive Versus Liberal Blood Transfusion in Patients With Myocardial Infarction and Anemia: Results of the MINT Trial (MINT)
- Percutaneous Coronary Intervention for Stable Angina (ORBITA-2): A Randomized, Placebo-Controlled Trial (ORBITA-2)
- DAPA-MI - A Registry-Based Randomized Trial of Dapagliflozin in Patients With Acute Myocardial Infarction Without Diabetes (DAPA-MI)

LBS.03: Heart Failure — VADS, Kids and Money

1:30-2:45 p.m. | Saturday, Nov. 11

- Avoidance of Aspirin With Left Ventricular Assist Devices in Advanced Heart Failure: Primary Results of the International, Double-Blind, Placebo-Controlled ARIES HM3 Clinical Trial (ARIES HeartMate 3)
- The TEAMMATE Trial: Everolimus to Prevent Rejection in Children After Cardiac Transplantation (TEAMMATE)
- Integrating Cost Into Shared Decision-Making for Heart Failure With Reduced Ejection Fraction: A Trial Providing Out-of-Pocket Costs for Heart Failure Medications During Clinical Encounters

LBS.04: Using Drugs, Diet and Delivery to Optimize Hypertension Outcomes

3:15-4:30 p.m. | Saturday, Nov. 11

- Effects of Dietary Sodium on Systolic Blood Pressure in Middle-Aged Individuals: A Randomized Order Cross-Over Trial (CARDIA-SSBP)
- Long-Term Blood Pressure Control After Physician Optimized Postpartum Blood Pressure Self-Management: The POP-HT Randomized Clinical Trial (POP-HT)
- Sustained Blood Pressure Reduction With the

RNA Interference Therapeutic Zilebesiran: Primary Results From KARDIA-1, a Phase 2 Study in Patients With Hypertension (KARDIA-1)

- Effectiveness of Blood Pressure-Lowering Intervention on Risk of Total Dementia Among Patients With Hypertension: A Cluster-Randomized Effectiveness Trial (CRHCP)

Sunday, Nov. 12

LBS.05: Shocking Decisions in AFib Care

8-9:15 a.m. | Sunday, Nov. 12

- Efficacy and Safety of Dual Direct Current Cardioversion Versus Single Direct Current Cardioversion as an Initial Treatment Strategy in Obese Patients With Atrial Fibrillation
- Abelaicimab, a Novel Factor XI/XIa Inhibitor, Versus Rivaroxaban in Patients With Atrial Fibrillation: Primary Results of the AZALEA-TIMI 71 Randomized Trial (AZALEA-TIMI 71)
- Efficacy and Safety of Anticoagulation With Edoxaban in Patients With AHRE Durations  $\geq 24$  Hours: The NOAH-AFNET 6 Trial (NOAH-AFNET 6)
- Apixaban for the Prevention of Stroke in Patients With Subclinical Atrial Fibrillation (ARTESIA)

LBS.06: Future of Lipid Lowering Therapy — Novel Mechanisms and Approaches

3:30-4:45 p.m. | Sunday, Nov. 12

- Effects of Pitavastatin on Coronary Artery Disease and Inflammatory Biomarkers in HIV: Mechanistic Substudy of the Randomized Trial to Prevent Vascular Events in HIV (REPRIEVE)
- Recaticimab Add-On Therapy in Patients With Non-Familial Hypercholesterolaemia and Mixed Hyperlipidemia (REMAIN-2): A Multicenter, Randomized, Double-Blind, Placebo-Controlled Phase 3 Trial (REMAIN-2)
- Efficacy and Safety of Lepodisiran: An Extended Duration Short-Interfering RNA Targeting Lipoprotein (a)
- Safety and Pharmacodynamic Effects of VERVE-101, an Investigational DNA Base Editing Medicine Designed to Durably Inactivate the PCSK9 Gene and Lower LDL Cholesterol - Interim Results of the Phase 1b heart-1 Trial (VERVE-101)

Monday, Nov. 13

LBS.07: From Local to Global: Achieving Equity in Prevention

8-9:15 a.m. | Monday, Nov. 13

- Hypertension Treatment in Nigeria Program: Early Results of a Type 2 Hybrid Effectiveness and Implementation Interrupted Time Series Trial (HTN Program)
- A Cluster Randomized Trial of Automated Referral to Centralized Pharmacy Services for Evidence-Based Statin Initiation in High-Risk Patients
- Effects of Intensive Blood Pressure Lowering Treatment in Reducing Risk of Cardiovascular Events (ESPRIT)
- Effect of a Multifaceted Implementation Strategy on Blood Pressure Control in Low-Income Patients: A Cluster Randomized Trial (IMPACTS)

LBS.08: Artificial Intelligence at the Bedside

9:45-11 a.m. | Monday, Nov. 13

- Screening for Peripartum Cardiomyopathies Using an Artificial Intelligence Enhanced Digital Stethoscope: A Randomized Clinical Trial (SPEC-AI)
- Novel AI Technology to Improve Risk Stratification of Patients Without Obstructive Coronary Artery Disease Undergoing CCTA: The Oxford Risk Factors and Non-Invasive Imaging (ORFAN) Study
- Validation of a Speech Analysis Application to Detect Worsening Heart Failure Events in Ambulatory Heart Failure Patients
- Artificial Intelligence Enabled Rapid Identification of ST-Elevation Myocardial Infarction Using Electrocardiogram (ARISE): A Pragmatic Randomized Controlled Trial (ARISE)

Featured Science

All Featured Science Sessions are presented in Room 203AB

Saturday, Nov. 11

Innovations in EP Care

9:45-11 a.m.

Coronary Revascularization — Lessons From Impactful Clinical Trials

1:30-2:45 p.m.

Sunday, Nov. 12

New Approaches to CV Therapeutics — First in Human Treatments

8-9:15 a.m.

HFpEF and Amyloid — It's Prime Time!

9:45-11 a.m.

Monday, Nov. 13

Novel Approaches in MI — Hype or Hope?

8-9:15 a.m.

Exercise Is Life (and Death) — Approaches in Athletes, Arrhythmias and Heart Failure

9:45-11 a.m.

From Artery to Veins — A Fantastic Journey

1:30-2:45 p.m.

Industry Events

Industry events provide a unique opportunity for companies in the field of cardiology to share their latest advances in cardiovascular practices, services and technologies.
