

Strengthen Your Workforce with a Future-Focused AI Platform

Midsized manufacturers are the engine of the economy, but unleashing the full potential of your people requires a new playbook.

According to the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM), nearly 90% of manufacturers plan to emphasize digital transformation in their operations over the next 12 months. Do you plan to do the same?

The Challenge:

Manufacturers often struggle with a patchwork of legacy technology that treats people like numbers rather than heroes. This disconnect prevents leaders from truly understanding their workforce needs, leading to burnout and talent loss. Barriers to sustainable growth stem from:

-

Brittle integrations between separate payroll, time-tracking, and training portals.
-

Persistent talent shortages that drive wage inflation and production slowdowns.
-

Inadequate staffing levels caused by a lack of real-time visibility into workforce data.
-

Disruption to daily operations when managing disconnected digital tools.

The solution.

Agility is achieved by eliminating the chaos of disparate systems. The Workday AI platform simplifies your tech stack by unifying systems, empowering your workforce to focus on revenue-generating efforts rather than administrative friction. In turn, companies have seen significant benefits like:

- 1 Accelerate screening.

50% less time spent on screening tasks using HiredScore* AI for Recruiting to find niche, hard-to-fill talent.
- 2 Scale training content.

800+ knowledge articles created in one week using AI, accelerating the delivery of critical training and safety information.
- 3 Empower the frontline.

Mobile-first self-service giving frontline workers immediate access to schedules and pay information.
- 4 Unify your planning.

Simplified automation replacing brittle integrations with a unified system for short- and long-term planning.

*HiredScore is a Workday company.

Workday AI made working so much more efficient for us.

Rebecca Schomburg
HR HCM People Experience Specialist, Melitta

Ready to truly transform your manufacturing organization?
Let's Talk.